CALL FOR PAPERS

Special Session "Advanced Information Management for Affective and Human-centered Information Systems"

15th IEEE/ACIS International Conference on Computer and Information Science (ICIS 2016)

http://www.acisinternational.org/icis2016/

June 26-29, 2016, Okayama, Japan

Overview:

   Advances in computers and networks have been brought sophisticated information society to us. It is desirable that they enable us to communicate with the people all over the world and to make use of a wide variety of multimedia data on the Web even though we do not have the detailed knowledge about the computers and networks. Information system therefore has to be more human-centered as well as be efficient and stable. As the managements of the information and software are important for the information system, more advanced human-centeredness must be considered in these managements. This special session focuses on the information and software managements from the human-mimetic, emotional, integral, and communicational aspects as well as information retrieval, data mining, and information utilization for information management. It aims to construct human-oriented and people-oriented information society.
